"We are very excited by the strategic acquisition of Ella's Kitchen, which complements our Earth's Best line of infant, toddler and kids products. Our Earth's Best team has much to be proud of, having grown the brand from less than $15 million in sales in 1999 to over $150 million today, as the first and only full line of organic baby food products with a wide variety of offerings including jars, pouches, formula, cereal, smoothies, snacks, soups, meals and frozen products, diapers and wipes," said Irwin D. Simon, Founder, President and Chief Executive Officer of Hain Celestial. "We plan to grow the Ella's Kitchen brand by leveraging our distribution platform in the European Union and the United States with the addition of Ella's Kitchen organic baby food product offerings. We also see the opportunity to expand in the UK market with new feeding and personal care products under the Ella's Kitchen brand. We welcome Paul Lindley, the founder of Ella's Kitchen and his team, who together with our accomplished Earth's Best team should accelerate the growth of both brands in our new Global Infant, Toddler and Kids Division. We strive to "Change the Way the World Eats" and bringing together Earth's Best and Ella's Kitchen brands should enable us to bring our natural and organic nutritional feeding offerings to a global consumer base."

"Today is truly exciting and ground breaking. I started Ella's Kitchen just seven years ago, alone in my daughter Ella's playroom. Now our Ella's Kitchen adventure continues as our total consumer focus, deep passion, clear vision and exceptionally talented team become part of a leading global natural and organic food and personal care business. The chance to take the next steps on our journey to improve children's health with a partner like Hain Celestial and the Earth's Best brand is something we relish and cherish. Together, we are committed to building the business that always put children's nutrition first. I am proud of what we have accomplished and look forward to what we can do, as we show that in business tiny ripples can become big waves of change," said Paul Lindley, Chief Executive Officer of Global Infant, Toddler & Kids Division of Hain Celestial.
